

Cameron, C. A. Consanguineous marriages in relation to deaf-mutation. Transaction of the Academy of Medicine, Ireland 1, 214-220 (1883).

Cameron, C. A. Consanguineous marriages in relation to deaf-mutation. Transactions of the Academy of Medicine, Ireland 1, 214-220 (1883).

Crossman, E. Intermarriage of relations as a degeneracy of the offspring. British Medical Journal April 13, 401-402 (1861).

Huth, A. H. The marriage of near kin, considered with respect to the laws of nations, the results of experience and the teachings of biology (Longmans Green and Company, London, 1875).

Huth, A. H. An index to books and papers on marriage between near kin (The Index Society, London, 1879).

Molloy, M. "No indication to mix with strangers": marriage patterns among Highland Scots migrants to the Cape Breton and New Zealand 1800-1916. Journal of Family History 11, 221-243 (1986).

Morgan, L. H. Systems of consanguinity and affinity of the human family (Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge, Washington DC, 1871).

Richards, E. Highland immigrants to South Australia in the 1850s. Northern Scotland 5, 1-23 (1982).
Wake, C. S. The origin of the classificatory system of relationships used among the primitive peoples. Journal of the Anthropological Institute 8, 144-180 (1878).

Woodhouse, W. J. Marriage (Greek) in Encyclopaedia of Religion and Ethics (ed. Hastings, J.) 444-449 (Clark, Edinburgh, 1915).